...centralised accounting support across multiple territories

If you are undertaking business in a number of countries, Fluency is a centralised solution to the challenges of international expansion and the associated time and costs involved in managing multiple ongoing relationships.

We provide you with Sarbanes-Oxley accredited accounting and administrative support across your international operations, with one central point of access and one team of contacts who understand your business and speak your language.

For details of our current international coverage and plans for expansion, please visit our website:

Our single point of contact is facilitated by the provision of all information via one online portal. This is in a SSL VPN* environment controlled through a token authentication system. It enables downloads of financial information, searches of live ledger data, approval of transactions for posting and payment, and allows review of soft copy invoices including an approval history. The functionality can be controlled on a hierarchical basis and is available in user definable languages.

* Secure Sockets Layer Virtual Private Network, offering robust and secure remote access to business information.

Translating international expansion into your language

We build upon local expertise in each territory for technical matters including local compliance requirements, which vary considerably from country to country. The skills of our local partner firms are applied to the systems and processes that we have developed over almost twenty-five years of financial outsourcing. These systems are SAS 70 Type II accredited, allowing businesses who are governed by Sarbanes–Oxley legislation to rely upon them.

This means that you do not have to be concerned about local differences, you only need to deal with information formatted in a way to which your users have become accustomed. By operating within such a framework we are able to deliver consolidated financial information and bring together answers to any queries you may have in a user friendly, efficient and timely manner.

The systems and processes we have in place are flexible to meet your requirements, which are carefully defined and documented at the start of our relationship. This can include, for example, reporting in US GAAP or IFRS, or bridging statements from local GAAP where applicable. Management information can be presented in different formats at local and/or group level.

Our solution affords you the benefits you would expect outsourcing to provide, including saving the substantial costs and commitments that are incurred when establishing and maintaining separate in-house finance functions across multiple territories.

Furthermore, by dealing with one team for all of your global reporting requirements, Fluency releases additional time to focus on the strategic elements of business expansion.

Fluency draws upon over sixty years of experience and expertise within the Blick Rothenberg group of assisting companies to expand internationally. We replace the need to recruit specialist accounting staff, either within your international operation or centrally.
